H. D. COUNTY COUNCIL MEETS

The Medina County Home Demonstration Council met in regular session in the county court room Saturday, Oct. 4, with twenty members and visitors present.

In the short business meeting presided over by Mrs. Emil Riff, reports were made of the Exhibit Day. The financial projects reported a few cents over twenty-five dollars cleared.

Mrs. Lonnie Howard, president of the Yancey Home Demonstration Club, announced that the basket training school would be given at her house Wednesday, Oct. 8, at 10 o'clock. This training will be for two members of each club.

Miss Velma Hambleton, Home Demonstration Agent, discussed annual meeting of council which will be the first Saturday in November. At that time all officers for Council will be elected and all annual reports of this year's officers will be given. The agent advised all local clubs to elect officers this month so that a complete list will be ready for the year book which goes to press the middle of November.

Then the meeting was turned over to Mrs. L. A. Wiemers, Mrs. Harrison Wilson, and Mrs. Felix Stinson, who were the Medina County delegates to State Home Demonstration meeting at Beaumont. Their reports were very interesting and instructive in planning next year's work.

The sale, now on, will end October 25th, according to Mr. H. W. Kollman, owner. The Western Auto Associate Store invites your attention to its ad elsewhere in this paper announcing a few of its many big money-saving values.

Shooting starts at 8 o'clock A. M. for members only and will continue until four P. M. After that pot shooting will be open to all comers. GOOD NEWS ABOUT 173!

TEXAS HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT

2300 Roosevelt Avenue
San Antonio, Texas
October 8, 1941

Medina County
Highway 173

Honorable Arthur H. Rothe
County Judge
Hondo, Texas

Dear Judge Rothe:

In May, 1941, you submitted a request and proposal of the Medina County Commissioner's Court that the State Highway Department consider the appropriation of funds necessary for extending Highway 173 from the end of present construction approximately 8.5 miles northwest of Devine toward Hondo, a distance of approximately three (3) miles, and advised that the County would undertake work of improving County road connections between the end of that project and U. S. 90 such that an all weather travel route would be available between the Devine area and Hondo, the County Seat. The merit of this proposal and its local and through traffic services was recognized; however, as advised State funds were limited as related to the cost of development of numerous other meritorious projects.

Through your inquiries concerning the status of this matter, I know that your interest in this project is great. I am pleased to notify you that I am advised that the State Highway Commission has approved the 1942 Secondary Highway Program which provides for joint Federal and State financing and that included in this program is a project providing for the construction of grading and drainage structures to effect the desired connection, for which $41,000.00 was allotted. With this improvement and the County work contemplated, all weather travel facilities will be available between Devine and Hondo.

At this time a field party is obtaining information necessary for plan preparation, and you may feel assured that preparation of plans will be expedited all possible.

Very truly yours,

F. S. MADDOX,
District Engineer.

This is good news, as it means the Highway will be brought that much nearer to Hondo. The next move should be to bridge the Hondo and come on into Hondo.

BASKET MAKING

In their educational booth at the Home Demonstration Exhibit Day, September 27, the Yancey Home Demonstration Club presented basket making. This art of home making appealed so to all the club members of the county that they too wanted to work, so Wednesday, October 8, in the home of Mrs. Lonnie Howard, three of the leaders of Yancey W. H. D. club gave a training school to two members of each club. These two will in turn give a similar school in their own club. Under the constant and capable vigilance of the instructors, Mrs. Philip Nixon, Mrs. Harrison Wilson and Mrs. Lonnie Howard, ten trays were completed and instructions and patterns were issued for other baskets and reed work.

Among the ones who were most interested were three members of the newest home demonstration—Pearson W. H. D. club which was organized just last Friday.

A delightful covered dish luncheon was served to twenty representatives and guests.

BEGIN AT HOME

Fire Prevention Week will be observed from October 5 to 11 this year. And every community in America, from the biggest metropolis down to the tiniest village, should participate. Now, as never before, fire prevention is a public duty. For fire prevention is of great and direct service to national defense.

What most of us fail to realize is that it is the cumulative total of relatively small fires which is responsible for the bulk of this country's shameful fire waste. Fire prevention, to be successful, must literally begin at home. Defective furnaces, defective wiring, accumulations of paper and rubbish, improperly stored flammable liquids, such as paint and cleaning solvents, matches, cigarettes—such little things as these are the cause of hundreds of millions of dollars of fire loss. A little knowledge, a little effort and a little money will make your home safe.

From the community point of view, one essential protection against fire is a modern building code. These codes should be up to the highest standard, and should make such hazards as the existence of fire traps impossible. Equally important, they are of small use unless they are rigidly enforced—and enforced without fear or favor. A code which is a dead letter because of lack of enforcement, is as bad as no code at all.

During Fire Prevention Week, every citizen should take advantage of the opportunity that will be offered to learn the causes of fires—and how they may be prevented. Then, apply what you have learned. Do it at home, and do it at work. It will save you money—and it may save life. And it may save valuable materials and resources which are so sorely needed now for defense. Let's make 1941 the year in which this country solves the problem of preventable fire.—Industrial News Review.

GLEN STEINLE TAKING ADVANCE FLYING COURSE

Word was received this week that Glenn Steinle, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Steinle of Jourdan, was one of the two young men to successfully complete the student flying course at St. Mary's University in San Antonio last school year. Mr. Steinle completed the requirements of the course and then made such grades on his examination that this year he is being permitted to take more advanced work and will be given instructions in the operation and flying of larger types of planes. Successful completion of this year's work will entitle him to entrance into Randolph Field without further examination. All Jourdanites take pleasure and pride in the fine record being made by this native son.

INFORMATION FOR SELECTEES

Selective Service registrants who are rejected at Army induction centers because they do not meet Army physical standards should be re-inducted in their former jobs, General J. Watt Page, State Selective Service Director, said today, instructing 11 local boards to utilize every facility at their disposal to aid these men.

Pointing out that the Selective Training and Service Act requires former employers to reinstate men inducted into the Nation's armed forces who satisfactorily complete their military training, General Page maintained that employers likewise have a moral obligation to reinstate former employees who were not actually inducted but who had patriotically answered a call for service. He said:

"A man who responds to the call for military training is fulfilling his obligation to his country. When, for some reason beyond his control, he cannot be inducted into the Nation's armed forces, he must be considered as having discharged his responsibility under the law and should be protected in doing so. Every effort must be made to prevent hardship in such cases."

General Page emphasized that the mere fact that a selectee has been rejected by the Army does not mean that he is physically unfitted for his civilian occupation. Army standards, he pointed out, are very exacting due to requirements of the training program and the possible hospitalization or pensions for those who break down. For those reasons, he reiterated, the percentage of eligibles who can qualify for induction is comparatively small.

While State Selective Service Headquarters is advised that most Texas employers are reinstating rejected selectees in their former jobs, the Director said, the Selective Service System wants to make certain that none is treated unjustly. Reemployment Commitmentmen affiliated with Texas' 351 local boards, he said, will aid rejected selectees as assiduously as they are assisting returning soldiers to obtain employment.

Texas local boards also have been requested to warn all registrants ordered to report for induction that they be rejected at Army induction centers.

Local boards, he said, should advise registrants that when they are notified of their call they should point out to their employers the possibility that they may not be accepted at the induction center.

"The employer can then be prepared to replace the man if he is accepted," General Page said, "or to continue his employment if he is rejected."

General Page also suggested that any selectee who is rejected by the Army immediately notify his employer of the rejection.

DAILY LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

Monday, October 6, 1941

San Antonio, Oct. 6.—HOGS: Estimated salable and total receipts 700. Moderate hog supplies Monday found trade active at fully steady prices compared with last week Friday. The day's top of $10.75 took most good and choice 180-270 lb. butchers while comparable grade 160-180 lbs. secured $10.25-10.75. All weights sows moved in a $9.50-9.75 spread. Feeder pig demands continued fairly broad with most offerings selling at $10.25.

CATTLE: Estimated salable and total receipts 800; CALVES 1,500. Rather heavy rainfall the past few days held cattle receipts to moderate volume Monday. Slaughter steers and yearlings arrived in very small supply and sold generally steady. Various lots common and medium turned at $7.00-9.00 with cutter grade yearlings at $6.50-6.75.

Slaughter cows found trade more active than late last week with prices on a steady to strong basis. Common and medium beef kinds cleared mainly at $5.75-6.75 with odd lots good at $7.25-7.50. Canners and cutters secured $3.50-5.75 with thin shelly kinds down to $3.00 or below. Sausage bulls maintained a firm price schedule at $6.50-7.65, odd head to $7.75. Quality in the slaughter calf division held mainly in the common and medium grades with only small lots good and choice on hand. Small supplies cleared on early rounds at strong to 25c higher. Good and choice selections turned mainly at $9.75-10.50 while common and medium brought $7.50-9.75. Only few bulls dropped below $6.50.

Despite limited stocker calf supplies, trade ruled rather uneven but generally steady to weak at last week's sharp declines. Good and choice steer calves cashed chiefly at $10.00-11.00 with a few lots at $11.50-12.00. Comparable grade heifers made $9.50-10.50. A few medium and good stocker yearlings secured $9.25-9.50. Stocker cows ranged from $5.50-6.50.

SHEEP: Estimated salable and total receipts 900. Steady prices took consignments of sheep and goats. Odd head medium grade lambs brought $8.00. Comparable grade aged wethers secured $4.50-5.00 while cull and common ewes earned $3.35-4.00.

Effective this date, spring lambs classified as lambs.

FSA TENANT PURCHASE COMMITTEE MEETS WITH TENTATIVELY APPROVED APPLICANTS

Tentative selection of applicants to buy farms under the Tenant Purchase Program of the Farm Security Administration was made last week by the county committee. A meeting was called for the purpose of discussing the program with the applicants by the County Tenant Purchase Committeemen, William C. Santleben, Alex G. Wendland, and Arthur G. Ilse. Mr. Earl P. Patterson, District Rural Supervisor, and Miss Sybil Guthrie, District Home Supervisor, of San Antonio were also present for the meeting.

Families tentatively selected for the Tenant Purchase Program are: Ira Barron, Black Creek; Oscar J. de Montel, Castrovilla; Jasper W. Dye, LaCoste; and Alfred F. Neuman, Hondo.

The purpose of the Tenant Purchase Program is to enable farm families who are ready for home ownership, but who do not have sufficient capital for down payment, to become home owners. Loans are available for families who have been receiving the major portion of their income from farming operations. Preference is given to those who are owners of livestock and farm implements necessary to carry on farm operations successfully.

The farms are to be of such size as to constitute an efficient farm management unit and to enable a diligent farm family to carry on successful farming of a type which can be successfully carried on in the locality. The loans are for a period of forty years at three per cent interest.

If there are other eligible farm families in the county who are interested in the program, they should contact one of the committeemen, or the local FSA office.

HONDO GIRL MAKES GOOD ADVANCEMENT IN BUSINESS CAREER

Miss Anna Laura Renken, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Renken of Hondo, has resigned her position with the Orsinger Motor Company where she has been employed as stenographer since January 1940.

Anna Laura has received an appointment from the government and is now with the State Division of Operations of the Work Projects Administration in the Smith-Young Tower Building, San Antonio.

"THIS BOOK ISN'T WORTH READING
... tear down the Library!"

One bad book doesn't make it a bad library. You wouldn't destroy the library to get rid of a few bad books.

A similar situation holds in the beer industry. The vast majority of beer retailers operate clean, decent law-abiding establishments. Now and then an occasional "black sheep" retailer turns up who violates the law or permits anti-social conditions.

The Beer Industry is now actively working to eliminate such retailers. We want to protect your right to drink good beer and our right to make it.

We also want to protect the economic benefits of beer. Right here in Texas, beer provides employment for 31,165 persons, supports an annual payroll of $22,076,182 and contributed $2,273,968.64 last year in state taxes.

This state, too, has an important stake in Beer's purchases from more than 100 industries supplying the brewing industry with materials, equipment and services.

You, too, can help the cause of moderation by (1) patronizing only the reputable places where beer is sold, and (2) reporting any law violation you may observe to the duly constituted authorities.

Washington Snapshots

The greatest tax bill in history is law and this all-American gloom week for the U. S. Taxpayer. Income taxes for most people will be tripled or quadrupled this year. Two and a quarter million persons will be paying income taxes for the first time in their lives. Buy an electric light bulb, you pay a five percent tax. Go to the movies, and it's ten percent. Play bridge and it's 13 cents on a pack of cards, or play pool and it's part of the annual $10 tax on pool tables. You can breathe without taxes hitting you directly or indirectly, but that's about all. Eat your breakfast, drive your car to work, buy a present for your wife, make a telephone call, there's no escaping the new taxes. And then once you've digested this tax bill, and decided that security and national defense are well worth paying for, there's still something else to take: most experts say this is a mere nothing as compared to the taxes to come next year and the year after that.

Believe it or not, there's a mild sort of silver lining even to this gloom. It goes by the name of Title VI, Section 601 of the new tax bill. Credit for this strange-sounding silver lining goes to Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia who pushed through an amendment to the record-smashing bill that calls for appointment of a joint committee to recommend cuts in non-defense spending.

This committee to investigate "non-essential Federal expenditures" will consist of three members each from the House Ways and Means and Appropriations Committees, three each from the Senate Finance and Appropriations Committees, the Secretary of the Treasury, and the Director of the Bureau of the Budget. The Committee is authorized to conduct an investigation and recommend as soon as possible eliminations or reductions of non-essential government spending.

High hopes are held for this committee. It marks the first time in some twenty-two years that Congress has approved something like Congressional budgetary control. And many believe it may save us as much as a billion dollars a year—which even in these days of tossing billions around can come in pretty handy.

—WSS—
Right up near the top of the current Washington worries is the growing danger that thousands of manufacturers will not survive these days of stringent defense material rationing, and that hundreds of thousands of workers will be thrown out of work.

It has been estimated that some 75 per cent of more than 100,000 plants making non-defense goods could be kept going by small allotments of materials, which if not made available would mean—especially in the cases of the small manufacturer—death to many of the plants and local ghost towns or depression areas. Under the present priorities set-up non-defense industries unequipped to do defense work are out in the cold, no matter how little they need of aluminum, rubber, or some other strategic material. So the "talking-of-revising" stage has been reached on the priorities setup, with a view to allocating small amounts of materials to plants where that is necessary to keep firms alive, towns from drying up, and labor employed.

To assist the government in saving as many jobs and as many firms as possible, the National Association of Manufacturers, through member state and local associations affiliated with the National Industrial Council, has launched a survey of "Priorities Unemployment."

Industries all over the country will be asked: "Do you anticipate that within the next 90 days you will be forced to decrease production, either because of priorities and the raw material allocation system, or the inability to get defense contracts or sub-contracts?" If the manufacturer answers in the affirmative, he is asked to tell how many workers have been laid off, the reduction in wages as the result, and what success he has had in his attempt to gain defense work.

Such detailed information will be invaluable to the Washington authorities in directing materials flow; in trying to avert shutdowns, and in transferring workers where dislocations are an inevitable concomitant of defense production.

Some people will criticize anything and everything—even the weather, but luckily they can't tinker that into a worse condition.—The Pathfinder.

FLETCHERIZED FARM FACTS

By THE EDITOR

From September Farming:—

Driving down a paved highway at the legal speed limit of 60 miles per hour does not afford much opportunity for careful observation or mental reflection over what is glimpsed of the rapidly receding landscape. However, some things cannot escape the most casual observer, and who-ever observes, be it ever so idle, is impelled by the fact of being a thinking creature to indulge in some reflections.

—FFF—
The foregoing "reflection" was impelled by the fact that the editor has but recently returned from a more than two-thousand-mile journey by a circuitous route to and from the scenes of his boyhood on a farm in North Mississippi. Almost the entire state of Texas from the Southwest to the Northeast was traversed; all of Arkansas by two routes, from the Southwest to the Central East and from that point back by way of the Ozarks to the Missouri boundary; and thence Southwest through part of Oklahoma. Parts of Southwest Tennessee, Northwest Mississippi and Southwest Missouri were touched, making six states that were visited.

—FFF—
The traffic encountered on the highway is the first thing that meets one's observation. Motor transportation has made America a race of runabouts. The people in the mass all seem bent on going somewhere, and they are in such a hurry to get there that they have little time to stop when they arrive. Hence, most of our "visit" was spent in the "going"! This mania for speed—for covering the greatest possible distance in the least possible time—has caused legislators to set speed limits at a rate that defies all rules of safety and has given America a traffic casualty list that is appalling. The marvel is that it is not many times greater than it is.

—FFF—
For instance, few drivers are capable of judging the margin of safety when two cars are approaching each other at a combined speed of 120 miles per hour—two miles per minute—on a roadway built for barely passing. Aggravate this by congested traffic and mix in a few daredevil drivers bent on taking chances, not to mention sleepy, stupefied drivers and drunks, and you have a hazard sensible people should not take. Less speed and more four-lane drives should be the objectives of all who have to do with traffic controls. With these precautions should also go efforts at a more uniform speed. Not the least of traffic hazards is for a mile-a-minute auto to approach an all-but-stalled over-loaded truck at a point where it is unsafe to attempt to pass it.

—FFF—
And speaking of trucks reminds that the effects of increase in legal load limits for commercial trucks are already noticeable in damaged or worn-out road-beds. Thousands of miles of Texas highways—to say nothing of their being outmoded for present legal loads and speed limits—are being worn out and are going to have to be replaced before the bonds for their construction are liquidated. This error of legislators in not co-ordinating speed and load with road facilities is going to entail a heavy burden of taxes for re-conditioning to meet the new demands, not to mention payment for worn-out roads nor the inconvenience to traffic caused by lack of proper maintenance. Speed limit in legislation is as essential as it is in motor traffic.

—FFF—
And speaking of highways and legislation in the same connection, driving along a heavily bonded road one sees entirely too many abandoned fields to auger well for the future of our country. The reasons for this may not be wholly due to faulty legislation or the people's proclivities for over-much traveling. But they are both not without their influence. Too many farmers are finding it more profitable to accept the government's "conservation" bounties for giving their land back to nature rather than making it produce man's sustenance. As a consequence, the tenant farming system is demoralized, fields are uncultivated and "relief" and "WPA" rolls are overcrowded. The tractor has, in many instances, eliminated both the tenant and his mule, thereby lessening the need for farm-produced feed and food without furnishing a substitute crop to take their places. Instead of cotton—the great staple crop of the South—expanding in proportion to this change, a diminished acreage of this crop was noticed.

DEFENSE BOND QUIZ

Q. Has the Government set a quota to be raised through the sales of Defense Savings Bonds?

A. No; there is no quota and no time limit. The Defense Savings Program is to be a continuing effort, and both Defense Bonds and Stamps should be purchased steadily and regularly.

Q. Why were the Nation's retail stores asked to sell Defense Savings Stamps?

A. American retailers were not asked—they volunteered through their national organizations to undertake the sale of Defense Savings Stamps on a vast scale.

NOTE.—To buy Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office, bank, or savings and loan association; or write to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C. Also Stamps now are on sale at most retail stores.

It is not wealth or ancestry, but honorable conduct and noble disposition that make men great.—Ovid.

JOB FOR TOMORROW

The chemical laboratories of the petroleum industry are now laying the foundation for industries of the future.

Out of their research are being created new products and more efficient ways of making old ones. Synthetic rubber, plastics, explosives, basic chemicals and scores of other essentials developed in petroleum laboratories are already being made on a commercial scale.

These scientific discoveries of materials vital to peace-time needs, as well as National defense, are opening up new fields of industrial activity.

Texas as the leading oil State is playing an important part in the creation of these new American enterprises. As a result, many young Texans now preparing themselves in our schools and colleges will find places in the industries resulting from this research.

The test tubes of today make the jobs of tomorrow.

BURNIN' WOOD

Talk about your perfum' smellin'
mighty good,
Nothin' to my nostrils smells like
burnin' wood.
See the smoke a curlin' from the chimney now,
Bet ma's gettin' supper, Sausage
I 'low,
Sweet taters, apple-pie and coffee
pipin' hot,
Get up Bill, g'long Moll, cows already in the lot.

Frost is in the air, sun is almost down, Smell the burnin' wood, hear the barkin' of the hound.
Jim's a cuttin' hedgewood, piles the brush to burn, Scrapes up leaves and lights a match... dern!
If that aint the best smell ever filled
my nose;
Talk about your posies, the lily
and the rose,

Nothin' ever like it to fill a man with joy,
Knocks forty years off your life,
feel just like a boy
When you went a huntin' rabbit in a holler tree,
Got some stick and smoked him out, Gee!
The smell of burnin' wood was mor'n
he could stand,
No trouble after that, you got him with your hand.

Talk about your perfum' smellin'
mighty good,
Nothin' to my nostrils smells like
burnin' wood.

MY GARDEN

I saw the world stripped of its beauty
And only strife and pain were in my heart,
It seemed that of the world and all its misery
I had become my very self a part.

And then I walked into my garden
The moonlight kissed the roses fast asleep
And flooded all my heart with silvery moonbeams,
And faith and hope were mine again
to keep.

The garden in its magic splendor
The perfume of the flowers on the air Brought back to me a faith that naught could shatter
'Twas peace on earth for God was walking there.

—RUTH MORTENSEN.

LANTERN LIGHT

The lantern swinging back and forth Makes shadows run and leap and prance;
The path looms far—then falls
away;
The darkness feints in grotesque dance.
The trees spring up like naked ghouls
And stand entranced in amber clutch;
And then the lantern swinging back
Erases them with sudden touch.

The farmer's face lit from below
Reveals a strength in lantern glow.
—RUTH W. MOREHOUSE.

THE LITTLE CHURCH ON THE HILL

There stands a church on the side of a hill
Where the brook flows by with many a rill;
The church was built on Grandfather's farm
And sheltered by the oaks from the wind's alarm.

Here Jesus my Savior spoke peace to my soul
Who washed, cleansed, and made me whole.
I still have a longing and fervent love
To the Shrine where I learned bless-

Once it was the pride of the neighborhood,
The "Little Gray Church in the Wildwood";
Memory voices of dear ones are heard,
In clear soprano, I can tell every word!

While angels, their quiet watch are vigils keeping Grandfather, near the Church is sleeping,
And Grandmother who loved the melody of hymn
Is sweetly abiding in the greensward with him.

Perhaps in the wake of the fast creeping years
Fond memories will bring to me other sad tears;
I wonder, will the church be standing here still,
This dear "Little Church on the Side of the Hill"!

—GENEVA PEARL DRISKILL.

SILHOUETTE

Blackbirds perched upon a wire,
Limned against the sky,
Look like clothespins fastened there Holding clouds to dry.

—LOTTYE HUMPHREYVILLE ATHEY.OUR FARMER FOLK

The thrifty farmer proudly greets
the sun
As it rolls back the darkness from the earth,
For he counts toil the very fines!
fun,
And growing crops expand his chest with mirth.

His flocks and herds on luscious pastures prove
That industry will pay rich dividends
To all its devotees, and then remove With ease each frowning mountain that offends.

The farmer wears a weather beaten face,
But in his bosom dwells a noble
heart
That lifts his thoughts above the commonplace,
And for the nation does a hero's part.

The tillers of the soil are patriots
For fruitful fields and smiling hills and dells Enchant them with their varied beauty spots,
And makes them true as tones of golden bells.

—WILLIAM JAMES ROBINSON.

ETERNAL BEAUTY

In the hush of the Summer twilight, I paused transfixed, and gazed with awe
At beauty that reigned over woodland,
And everything that I saw.

I thought how wonderful is God's way,
Creating splendors that will reign
For only brief, divine existence;
Then to die and to live again.

Thus will the cycles rule all nature,
With infinite, majestic span
Upon old Earth's eternal fastness,
With art that God bequeaths to man.
—MARIE L. BLANCHE.

DESERTED FARM

The weatherbeaten farmhouse, with broken windowpanes, and sagging window sills.
Sits like a lone grim sentinel, an aged patriarch, on a wind-torn hill.
Uncannily, something strange about the old vacant house, seems to obey,
The eerie will, of some former owner, still.

In the deserted littered farmyard,
sits an old farm-wagon,
With rotting fellows, deep imbedded in the soil.
Irate, jaybirds scream! in the tops of dead-limbed trees.
A lone rabbit, scurries for cover, as a hawk with wings out-spread, Soars and glides, with ease.

Scant meager traces of life and love, remains on the old deserted farm.
A touch of beauty, a woman's toil
and patience are rewarded, Long after her earthly voice has been quiet, stilled;
All that remains of love and life, are these,
The deep fragrance of ramblerroses, and honeysuckle, scents the evening breeze.
—ALBERT WALTON SPEAKS.

LOVE AND FRIENDSHIP

I have one friend with whom I speak of you,
And her deep loyalty to us transcends
The boundaries where human kindness ends;
And if you knew her, you would find this true.

With her I draw forth from a casket rare
The jewels far too precious to be shown
To any other eyes except her own:
When she beholds them, then they grow more fair.

For her I spread the treasures of my store,
And have no fear that any may be lost;
With her at hand to help me count
their cost,

I see them still increasing more and more.
O you shall thank her at some future day
For helping me when you were far away.

—CATHERINE RUTH SMITH.

IF GOD WE TRUST

While struggling through the years
of Life,
We feel the sting and care of strife
And knife-like pains may thrust their blade

Into our hearts and scars are made.
If fate may steal our joys away,
And scornful souls slight us each day—

If greed and theft, stalk through the night—
If God we trust, He'll keep us right.

—NANCY C. MOBLEY.

SPACE

Silence crowds me so
I must straightway go
Among faces
Crowding places
There only
Can I be lonely.

From Ray Tucker's usually reliable Washington National Whirligig column comes this charge of a brazen attempt to bribe the farmers with high prices to support the administration's war policies. Says Tucker: "The administration is utilizing every ounce of pressure to break down opposition to its war policies in those areas where peace sentiment is strongest. It is pulling strings designed TO TRANSFORM the RE-ARMING and aid-to-Britain PROGRAM INTO A BOOM FOR FARMERS beyond the Mississippi. The price of almost every foodstuff scheduled for shipment to England and other anti-Axis nations has begun to soar sensationally. These items include onions, citrus fruits, vegetables, dairy products, pork of all kinds. Together with food stamps purchases and the 85 per cent parity law recently signed by the President, these war exports should give the farmer the largest cash income he has enjoyed in many years. Through its A. A. A. representatives, extension agents and the 4-H clubs, the administration is making sure that the farmers SEE THIS development as a closely knit cause-and-effect phenomenon. When Secretary Claude Wickard and his aides are not explaining that lease-lend exports are responsible for an improved agriculture, they are warning that the farmers would be the chief sufferers in a Hitler-dominated world. So far the scheme does not appear to have had the desired effect. Congressional mail reveals strong farm sentiment for a British victory, but equal insistence that the United States stay out of a shooting war." To such depths of depravity, descends the would-be bribe-giver as to expect farmers to gamble the life's blood of their sons for the chance of a better market.

—oOo—

There was a lot of stir on Capitol Hill last week, writes Nugent Ezekiel Brown from Washington, about stories going the rounds here to the effect the members of the British colony in Washington were "making whoopee as United States pays $30,000 for wine and food reported charged to Lease-Lend Bill". The story was printed in the Washington Times-Herald and a copy of it was then printed in the Congressional Record. There are some three thousand Britishers here for their Government and "charge it to Lend-Lease seems to have been the by-word with these folks". At least 100 portable air-conditioning units were bought for use by the British at the Willard Hotel and cost charged to Lend-Lease. The British embassy denied the story. Then President Roosevelt in a press conference, branded the story as a "plain dirty lie". It was evident that he was very mad about the whole thing. But the individual items of the Lease-Lend program of expenditures can be made public only by the President and HE PREFERS NOT TO DO THIS at this time.

—oOo—

A free press is possible only among free people. The press is the servant of those who supply its sustenance. Withdraw its sustenance and the press succumbs. Therefore, those who would have a free press must first be free themselves. They must sustain their press, and they must supply that sustenance with a tolerance that permits the press itself to be free.

able everywhere. Where the menace of the boll-weevil, the cotton flea, the boll-worm or the leaf worm has not caused the abandonment of this crop to a considerable extent, loss of the foreign market for the staple has had a devastating effect. If King Cotton ever again regains his throne in the South it will be when cotton mills are brought to the cotton fields and the finished goods and not the raw staple is made our article of export—failure to do which has been for the Southland the greatest economic blunder of which any intelligent people were ever guilty. Whatever excuse may be offered in palliation of such neglect in the past, there is none now with the South's abundance of fuel oils and its growing army of displaced farmers crowding our population centers and finding government largess the principal means of livelihood.

—FFF—

And while disposed to bemoan the lack of economic foresight of our forebearers who persisted in treating the great industry of cotton-growing as if it were—and would ever so remain—a slave-labor enterprise instead of realizing upon its economic power, we can but deplore the passing of that system of plantation life that made the Southland both the envied and the exploited by the avaricious of the world. The spacious country home, where the farm owner resided, and supervised the tilling of his vast acreage and made his fields with their crops, his pastures with their flocks and herds, his orchards and gardens with their fruits and vegetables yield their abundance, has now all but disappeared from the scene. Such a farm was almost self-sustaining, and its cash crop a surplus crop and, owing no man, the farmer could take his chances with fluctuating markets and on an average of the years survive as the most independent man who ever lived. He needed no man's credit and would have scorned as a thing accursed any suggestion of a government bounty. An economic set-up that made the farmer its victim and a socialistic system of public education that trained his children away from the farm meant the ultimate finish to this mode of life.

—FFF—

In its place we see springing up side-by-side two radically different—if not antagonistic—systems of farming. The larger land holdings now belong to an absentee land-lord whose fortune and interest lies in some other business and he is either a money-grabber who has squeezed his land out of the ownership of the less fortunate and is interested only in exploiting the land for what it will earn in dollars and cents, or he is a farm hobbyist who plays at farming in his leisure. On the other hand is the small home-owner, the man who lives on his own land and for the most part tills his own fields, milks his own cows and fights a more or less unequal battle with the interest-taker and the tax-collector. If there is any future worth hoping for left for the rural Southland it rests with the latter. If the government will ever cease coddling him on one hand with picayunish bounties while picking his pocket through excessive taxation on the other and leaving him to be victimized by every selfish interest extant, he may yet come into his own. Is it a vain wish that he may?

—FFF—

That the small farmer can be the independent man if given an equal chance with all other classes is amply evidenced by the success some are making despite present handicaps. Their well-kept farms and substantial bank accounts here and there attest to this. Increased farm herds, weekly cream checks, substantial income from improved poultry flocks and the production of diversified crops attest to the fact that they are capable of adaptation to new methods to meet changing conditions. With increased livestock production comes increased feed production. With increased feed production comes more attention to clover and other legume crops. And soil building and soil conservation follow as a natural accompaniment.

—FFF—

And speaking of soil conservation reminds that given a good clay sub-soil you can have a good soil as long as you save the subsoil. As promising a crop of cotton as we saw on our two-thousand-mile journey was growing on a clay hill-side field on the old home place where the writer's father planted black locust trees to stop the washing incident to broken hillside ditches more than sixty years ago and turned it over to the redemption of wild lespedeza clover. Given a chance, nature has a wonderful way of taking care of herself. Maybe the same nature is inherent in the farmer; that within himself rests his own salvation.

—FFF—

Nevertheless, sins of neglect always suffer the penalty; there is no forgiveness in nature. She may hide her scars but she never redeems her waste.

—FFF—

But speaking of the old farm calls to mind that the old pear-tree, pictured elsewhere on this page as it appeared when the writer and his elder brother posed beneath it in the summer of 1936, like so many other cherished things of his boyhood days, was showing an advanced stage of decay and will probably not survive the season. As well as the elder brother can remember, it was a bearing tree when our father purchased the farm in 1869. When the writer was too small to venture climbing it for its luscious golden fruit, it was surrounded by an apple orchard the trees of which all disappeared more than fifty years ago. Not to our knowledge has it been cultivated since and it is now almost surrounded by cedar trees. Our reason for mentioning it here is that notwithstanding its long survival against neglect and the tortures of the elements, and evidence of its approaching demise, a few water-sprouts near the base of the tree were showing a valiant struggle to survive, and with a little nurture and care from man might preserve its life through many more fruitful years. What a marvelous thing is life and the tenacity with which most living things cling to its existence! What a privilege is the life of the farmer whose business is living among and working with living, growing things!

The pear tree, pictured above, is more than seventy years old and is one of the few remaining landmarks of the editor's boyhood playgrounds. The above picture was taken in the summer of 1936, and the editor's headgear was a Texas Centennial Celebration Bombrero.

warranty deed whereby it conveyed to J. L. Gilliam the following described property situated in Medina County, Texas: All those certain lots or parcels of land situated in Medina County, Texas, aggregating 41-57/100 acres, being all of Lot 18A Block 13, of the subdivision of lands held by the Trustees of the San Antonio Trust as shown by the map thereof on file at Page 1, Plat Book 2, Medina County Records. It is expressly understood and agreed that the land above described is conveyed subject to an easement or right of way for an electric transmission and distributing line over said land, heretofore granted to Texas Central Power Company by instrument dated May 22nd, 1926, duly recorded in the Deed Records of Medina County, Texas, in Volume A-79, Page 467. That on or about July 20, 1927, the Trustees of the trust known as the San Antonio Trust, for valuable consideration, executed and delivered to J. L. Gilliam their certain deed, recorded in Volume 82, page 634 of the Deed Records of Medina County, Texas, whereby they conveyed to said J. L. Gilliam the following described real property situated in Medina County, Texas: All those certain tracts or parcels of land in Medina County, Texas, aggregating 60-72/100 acres, being a part of G. C. & S. F. R. R. Company Survey No. 57, and comprising all of Lots 16A and 17A, Block 13, of the subdivision of lands held by the Trustees of the San Antonio Trust as shown by the map thereof on file at page 1, Plat Book 2, Medina County Records. That J. L. Gilliam died on or about March 29, 1931, leaving a written will whereby he devised to plaintiff, Frost National Bank, as Trustee and in Trust, an undivided two-thirds interest in the above described real property and whereby he devised to his wife, Margaret Gilliam, an undivided one-third interest in said property. That Margaret Gilliam, the wife of J. L. Gilliam died on or about the 26th day of July, 1936, intestate, and that her two children, James Luther Gilliam, Jr., and Joe Mitchum Gilliam, minors, were her sole and only heirs at law and by virtue of the Laws of Texas inherited equal shares in an undivided one-third interest in the above described property, and that they each now own an undivided one-sixth interest in such property, and that plaintiff, Mrs. Thomas R. Lentz as guardian of the persons and estates of such minors, is by virtue of the laws of the State of Texas now in charge and control of their said interest in said land. That the above described deeds from the Trustees of the trust known as The San Antonio Trust to J. L. Gilliam, dated respectively September 27, 1927, February 11, 1927, and September 14, 1927, and the above described deed from San Antonio Suburban Irrigated Farms to J. L. Gilliam, dated January 20, 1928, were never filed for record or recorded by said J. L. Gilliam and are now and have never been in the possession of plaintiffs. That heretofore, to wit, on or about the first day of July, 1941, plaintiff, Frost National Bank, Trustee under the will of J. L. Gilliam, deceased, was lawfully seized and possessed and entitled to the possession of an undivided one-sixth interest in the tracts or parcels of land hereinabove described situated in the County of Medina, State of Texas, and was holding the same in fee simple, and that on or about the said date, to-wit, July 1, 1941, James Luther Gilliam, Jr., and Joe Mitchum Gilliam, Minors, were each lawfully seized and possessed and entitled to the possession of an undivided one-sixth interest in the tracts or parcels of land, hereinabove described, and were holding the same in fee simple and that plaintiff, Mrs. Thomas R. Lentz, guardian of the persons and estates of said minors was in charge and control of the interest of said minors in said land. That thereafter, to-wit, on or about the 2nd day of July, 1941, the defendants, and each of them, unlawfully and forcibly seized and entered upon said land and premises, and ejected the plaintiffs therefrom, and have dispossessed plaintiffs of said premises, and still unlawfully withhold from the plaintiffs the possession thereof to plaintiffs' damage in the sum of $10,000.00. That the defendants and each of them, are setting up some character of claim or title to the above described lands owned by plaintiffs and herein sued for. Plaintiffs further alleged that plaintiff, Frost National Bank, Trustee under the will of J. L. Gilliam, deceased, and James Luther Gilliam, Jr., and Joe Mitchum Gilliam, Minors, each have a good and perfect title to their respective undivided interests, by reason of the fact that they now own and have had by themselves and by those under whom they claim and hold peaceable, continuous and adverse possession of said lands and premises, by actual inclosure, cultivating, using and enjoying the same for a period of more than ten years after defendants cause of action accrued and before the commencement of this suit by plaintiffs, and for more than ten years next before said first day of July, 1941, and this plaintiffs are ready to verify. WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs here now affirmatively plead and rely upon the statute of limitation of ten years for a recovery of said lands and premises from and against the defendants herein named, and each of them, and pray for judgment accordingly. That plaintiffs are not advised and do not know whether or not said defendants, except those named above, or any of them are now living or dead, and that therefore, plaintiffs make said defendants, other than those named, their heirs and legal representatives parties defendant to this suit to the end that they and each of them may appear and defend and set up and claim any right, title, claim or interest they or any of them may have in and to said lands or premises or any part thereof. WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs pray that upon a final hearing hereof plaintiff, Mrs. Thomas R. Lentz, guardian of the persons and estates of James Luther Gilliam, Jr., and Joe Mitchum Gilliam, Minors, have judgment against said defendants and against each and all of them for the title to, possession and restitution of an undivided one-sixth interest in said land and premises, and every part thereof for Joe Mitchum Gilliam, and that plaintiff, Frost National Bank, Trustee, under the will of J. L. Gilliam deceased, have judgment against said defendants, and against each and all of them for the title to, possession and restitution of an undivided two-thirds interest in said lands and premises, and every part thereof; that plaintiffs have judgment decreeing that all the right, title, claim and interest of the defendants herein, and each of them in and to said tracts of land be divested out of the defendants, and each of them, and that an undivided one-sixth of all the right, title, claim and interest in said land be duly vested in James Luther Gilliam, Jr., and that an undivided one-sixth of all right, title, claim and interest in said land be duly vested in Joe Mitchum Gilliam, and that an undivided two-thirds of all the right, title, claim and interest in said land be duly vested in plaintiff, Frost National Bank, Trustee under the will of J. L. Gilliam, deceased; that plaintiffs have judgment against the defendants and each of them for the recovery of said land and premises, and for their restitution to plaintiffs in the respective undivided interests alleged; that the cloud cast on plaintiffs' title by said claims or pretended claims of said defendants and each and any and all of them be removed; for their damages and all costs of suit, and plaintiffs further pray for such other judgment and decree and further relief as the facts may warrant, in law or equity, and for general relief; all of which appears more fully from the petition on file in the District Clerk's Office.
